Technical Questions

Questions about the site itself and the software that runs on it.

- How do I create an account?
- How do I report a problem with the site?
- What software is used to run the site?

How do I create an account?

Currently, there is no way for a visitor to create an account.

How do I report a problem with the site?

You can report any problems here (we need someplace or some email address they can send bug reports to).

What software is used to run the site?

We use BookStack.