

Glu'gu'ik

Zeta Reticulans, Grays; Based on Va'du'sha'a, which orbits Zeta[2] Reticuli, a distant binary system.. Formerly a world empire, the Last Crown, Emperor Ma'dre'le'er, died after the F'al was removed to Earth by Clan Hou'di'ni. The government fell and was replaced by a representative republic. There is a Glu'gu'ik colony on Da'me in Division Ten. They have the ability, as a species, to manipulate the quantum foam around them. This enables them to teleport themselves and other sentients and objects around them, as well as to attack by rearranging the internal organs of the beings they attack; it is a particularly nasty death. They can also use this ability, within specific spacetime limits, to contact their dead. This ability, however, does not work through aluminum foil, and this may be the source of the urban legend of wearing "tin-foil hats."
