

The Agency

The Agency is the Earth-based organization that ties into, and operates, Division One. A loose organization existed prior to First Contact, and with the formalization of Earth as a signatory of the Sydys Concordat and the backing of the Pan-Galactic Coalition, the organization was able to tighten its structure and grow. It is now a smoothly-operating worldwide organization...that no one outside it on Earth knows about.

Alpha Line

The special forces department in the Agency, run by Agent Echo, assisted by his partner Omega, and Romeo of Alpha Two. Echo, who was born and raised in Texas, likes to take a leaf from the Texas Rangers and say of Alpha Line, "One team, one riot...or assassin, or terrorist, or...whatever."

Alpha Line Teams

A list of Alpha Line teams. There were 16 teams by the end of Tour de Force. By Definition & Alignment, there were about 25 teams. By Byegones, there are about 50 teams on Earth.

Supplies

Includes the consumables provision for the on-site agent quarters; agents log into a centralized system to place orders, and Supplies assigns each agent to a specific delivery agent, who then gathers the requested items and delivers them to the appropriate quarters, including putting away the items for the ordering agent.

For new agents, a designated Supplies team goes to the new agent's former dwelling and records the preferences of the new agent, then returns to the facility to which the new agent is assigned and ensures the desired items are in inventory, loading them into the new agent's quarters as soon as the quarters are assigned.

An important subset of Supplies is the Wardrobe section. This is then further subdivided into the Personal Wardrobe branch, the Duty Suit branch, and the Laundry branch. The Laundry branch also has a team dedicated to mends and repairs. These branches ensure that all agents are duly attired per regulations, whether on or off duty.
